

MEDIA ADVISORY

May 22, 2019

Launch Party of the Northwest Nosh Second Annual Edition 'Growing in the North'

The Thunder Bay and Area Food Strategy (TBAFS) is releasing the second annual edition of the Northwest Nosh magazine – with a focus on 'Growing in the North'. Media are invited to grab one of the first copies of the Nosh, capture the interactive displays from local organizations attending such as Roots to Harvest who will be sampling wild food preserves, the Northwestern Ontario Women's Centre who will be promoting the local Good Food Box, the Thunder Bay District Health Unit who will be providing info on Canada's new Food Guide and EcoSuperior will be in attendance providing information about rain gardens and composting. Photo and interview opportunities will be available.

What: Launch of the second annual edition of the Northwest Nosh Magazine.

When: Wednesday, May 22nd at 4:30 PM (*event runs 4-6 PM, formal launch at 4:30 PM).

Where: Upstairs, Thunder Bay Country Market – 850 May St N, Thunder Bay, ON P7C 3R9.

Who: Charles Levkoe, Canada Research Chair in Sustainable Food Systems at Lakehead University and Acting Co-Chair of the TBAFS Executive Committee & Karen Kerk, Coordinator at the TBAFS.

For more information:

Karen Kerk, Food Strategy Coordinator
foodstrategy@ecosuperior.org
(807) 683-6129

Victoria Pullia, Food Strategy Intern
foodstrategyadmin@ecosuperior.org

-- 30 --

The Thunder Bay and Area Food Strategy works with over 40 partners across the region to build a more sustainable, healthy, and equitable food system. Visit tbfoodstrategy.ca to find out more.

Facebook @tbfoodstrategy

Twitter @tbayfood

Instagram @tbayfood