

COMMUNITY EMERGENCY FOOD SECURITY PLAN

Research Participant Information

Who is doing this research?

The Thunder Bay & Area Food Strategy (TBAFS) is a community strategy that was developed to build a more healthy, equitable and sustainable food system for the region. The TBAFS is supported by many individuals and organizations, as well as the City of Thunder Bay and surrounding municipalities.

What is this survey for?

This survey will be used to help the TBAFS build a plan for the community about making sure that everyone who needs food during an emergency gets what they need as quickly as possible.

How will what I share be used in this research?

The knowledge and experiences that you share will be used to help the project to understand the perspective and needs of people who accessed emergency food support during COVID. Your input is a very important part of helping to build future community responses to emergency food access.

After this information has been collected from around the city, what is learned will be shared back on the TBAFS website [tbfoodstrategy.com/pillars/food-access/] and through the organization that you got this survey from. If you have any additional questions, please feel free to reach out to:

Karen Kerk

TBAFS + CEFSP Project Coordinator
foodstrategy@ecosuperior.org

Courtney Strutt

CEFSP Research & Project Development
courtney@collectivefuture.ca

COMMUNITY EMERGENCY FOOD SECURITY PLAN

Research Participant Information

Who is doing this research?

The Thunder Bay & Area Food Strategy (TBAFS) is a community strategy that was developed to build a more healthy, equitable and sustainable food system for the region. The TBAFS is supported by many individuals and organizations, as well as the City of Thunder Bay and surrounding municipalities.

What is this survey for?

This survey will be used to help the TBAFS build a plan for the community about making sure that everyone who needs food during an emergency gets what they need as quickly as possible.

How will what I share be used in this research?

The knowledge and experiences that you share will be used to help the project to understand the perspective and needs of people who accessed emergency food support during COVID. Your input is a very important part of helping to build future community responses to emergency food access.

After this information has been collected from around the city, what is learned will be shared on the TBAFS website [tbfoodstrategy.com/pillars/food-access/] and through the organization that you got this survey from. If you have any additional questions, please feel free to reach out to:

Karen Kerk

TBAFS + CEFSP Project Coordinator
foodstrategy@ecosuperior.org

Courtney Strutt

CEFSP Research & Project Development
courtney@collectivefuture.ca